Personal Income Tax is a tax levied on personal net income earned during the calendar year beginning January 1 and ending December 31. Income tax payments for every tax year must be made at a local tax office between February 16 and March 15 of the following year. The vast majority of people who receive salaries or wages do not need to file a tax return because their tax obligations are determined by the amount of income tax withheld and then adjusted for the final salary paid to them in a calendar year.

If you are enrolled in NHI and you had minimal or no income during the previous year, it is recommended that you file your income to have your insurance premiums calculated correctly.

Contact details: National Tax Agency, Kofu Office

4 Employment

(1) What you should know before signing an employment contract

All employees have an employment contract with their employer. The labor standard law in Japan sets out that employers must state hourly wages or salaries, working hours, and other working conditions. In the event that the working conditions differ from the actual facts, the worker may immediately cancel the labor contract. When you sign a contract, ensure you fully understand the terms and conditions of your contract to avoid future trouble.

In concluding a labor contract, the employer should clearly indicate the following terms in writing to the worker:

- ① Contract period
- ② Working location and job description
- ③ Start and end times of work, rest breaks, and holidays
- ④ Amount of wages or salary, the dates for closing accounts for wages and for payment of wages
- ⑤ Resignation

I. Labor-related laws that you need to be aware of Predetermined compensation and set-offs against advances are prohibited.

An employer must not form a contract that prescribes a monetary penalty for breach of a labor contract or establishes the amount of compensation for loss or damage in advance. An employer may not promise to pay a specific amount of damages for non-performance of labor contracts or illegal acts by employees. Also, if wages have already been paid in advance before the payday, these may be subtracted.

II. Employee Withholding Taxes

Salaries, wages, bonuses or similar remuneration paid to employees are subject to withholding income taxes. The scope of individual income tax varies according to the following types of residence:

“Resident”

"Resident" means those who have a registered address in Japan or who have had a residence in Japan for over a year until the present. For those classified as "residents", tax is collected from all salaries and wages, like in the case of the Japanese nationals.

“Non-Resident”

"Non-residence" means those who do not have a registered address in Japan or who have not had a residence continuously for one year or more in Japan. Remuneration earned in Japan falls under domestic-sourced income, and 20% of it is subject to withholding income taxes.

III. Dismissal

In the event that an employer wishes to dismiss a worker, the employer shall provide at least 30 days' advance notice. An employer who does not give 30 days' notice shall pay average wages for a period of not less than 30 days. However, it does not apply to any workers who fall under one of the following categories:

- ① Workers who are employed for a fixed period not longer than 2 months;
- ② Workers who are in a probationary period of 14 days or less
- ③ Day-labor job (those who have been employed for more than one month in a row do not apply)
- ④ Employers shall not dismiss employees if there are no objectively reasonable grounds for doing so

IV. Payment of Wages

Wages shall be paid (1) in currency; (2) directly to the workers; (3) in full; (4) at least once a month; and (5) on a designated date. Upon a worker's retirement, an employer must pay all wages owing to the employee within 7 days after the request is made.

V. Extra pay for overtime, work on holidays, and midnight work

To force a worker to work beyond the statutory working hours, on statutory holidays, or at midnight, the employer must pay the following additional wages:

- ① For work done in excess of the statutory working hours, extra pay calculated at 25% or more of the wages payable for the normal working hours or work day must be paid.
- ② For work done on statutory holidays, at least 35% or more of the wages payable for the normal working hours or work day must be paid. Saturday holidays occur once a week, or four days or more in a four-week period.
- ③ For work done between midnight and dawn (between 10 p.m. and 5 a.m.), overtime pay calculated at 25% or more of the wage payable for the normal working hours or work day must be paid. I - ii Buy a train ticket where IC cards are not accepted, e.g., "Minobu Line".

- ① First, check the fare to your destination station on the railway map above the ticket machines. Train tickets can be purchased at ticket machines at the corresponding railway station. If the train station is not equipped with ticket machines, receive a "Josha-eki-shomeisho"(boarding station certificate).
- ② Pay fares at fare adjustment machines or to a train crew if you have an override or a boarding station certificate.
- ※ Special express trains, e.g. Azusa and Kaiji, require a special express ticket in addition to a boarding ticket.

II. How to use buses

- ①. Wait at the designated bus stop for your bus.
- ②. Check the bus route map at the bus stop or the bus number on the bus to ensure it's the right one.
- ③. When boarding, pick up a ticket from a small machine next to the door. A number is printed on the ticket, which you will later use to determine your fare. If you use an IC card to pay the fare, touch your card against the card reader.
- ④. When your stop is approaching, press one of the buttons on the wall to signal the driver that you wish to get off at the next stop.
- ⑤. A display above the driver shows the next stop and the fares for that stop in yen. To determine your fare, match the number on your ticket with the number and fare on the display. If you use an IC card, then you do not have to worry about this. When getting off, put your ticket and the exact fare into the box next to the driver. If you use an IC card, touch the card against the reader near the driver. If you do not have the exact fare, use the changing machine to get small change.
- ※ Stay seated while the bus is moving.

Train passes can be purchased at ticket machines and counters at Kofu station. Bus passes can be purchased at the Kofu station bus terminal center, the Yamanashi Kotsu Main Office, and its branch

8 Emergencies

(1) Fire

If you see a fire hazard, alert people by shouting “Kaji-da, Kaji-da” (meaning “Fire”, “Fire”) and then call 119 immediately.

- Things to note when calling 119
 - Remain calm and tell the operator, “Kaji desu” (it means “There is a fire”)
 - Then tell them your location (address) and what is on fire.
Kofu-shi, ○-machi, ○-chome, ○-ban, ○-go (The address) ○○○ ga moeteimasu (○○○ is burning)
If you don’t know the address, you can indicate nearby landmarks.
(e.g., ○○○ Byoin no chikaku desu - It’s near ○○○ hospital)
 - Try to bring the fire under control at an early stage with a fire extinguisher or other available tools before a fire engine arrives. If a fire reaches the ceiling, immediately stop extinguishing the fire, escape.
- Fire prevention strategies
Smoking in bed and improper use of gas appliances have long been the main cause of fires. A fire can not only result in the loss of your physical assets, but it can also be an inconvenience to others.
 - Never smoke in bed.
 - Place the heater away from things that can burn easily.
 - NEVER leave your cooking unattended. If you have to leave the kitchen, turn off the stove.
 - Install smoke alarms or detectors in strategic locations in your home. The fire alarm system is designed and engineered to provide you with an early warning to allow you to safely exit the building during an emergency situation.
 - Flame-resistant or fire-retardant bedding and clothing are highly recommended to protect you from fire-related hazards.
 - Keep fire extinguishers in your home so that you can put out a fire quickly or at least prevent the rapid spread of fire.
 - Cooperate with your neighbors to protect elderly people and those with disabilities.

(2) Medical emergencies

- What to know when calling 119
 - Remain calm. Dial 119 and tell the operator, “Kyukyu desu” (it means “There is a medical emergency”) slowly.
 - Then, tell them your location (address) and your name
(Name) desu. Kofu-shi, ○○-machi, ○-chome, ○-ban, ○-go (The address) (e.g., ○○○ ga itai desu - I have a pain in my ○○○)

- When you hear the siren, guide the ambulance to the site.

A fire engine or an ambulance will be dispatched to the scene at no cost on an emergency call. The service is free nationwide, 24 hours a day.

(3) Earthquakes

You may hear a sudden, low-pitched rumble or feel shaking before an earthquake occurs. Fires caused by an earthquake are more dangerous than the damage caused by the shock.

When an earthquake occurs, do not rush outside; crouch under a sturdy table until the shaking stops. Protect yourself from falling objects. When the shaking stops, deal with the fires with caution, especially with fallen furniture and glass fragments.

If you are outside when a shake happens, evacuate to a safe location, such as a park or schoolyard; buildings and block walls may fall, roof tiles or glass windows may break. Always be prepared for natural disasters.

Discuss the evacuation site with your family members and inspect your emergency equipment, such as food, water, and clothing, on a regular basis.

Kofu city publishes "My Home Disaster Prevention Manual for Foreign Residents" in multiple languages: Chinese, Korean, English, Portuguese, Tagalog and Thai. The manual includes:
